

ABSTRACT

One or more modules are designed to enable themselves to be logically chained to one or more other modules dynamically, for execution as part of the same thread as the other modules. In various embodiments, a thread module

5 chaining service is provided to facilitate the dynamic chaining and chained execution of the modules.